ALL ABOARD FOR MINNEOLA—Here Cone sales representatives on Wednesday of last week are ready to board a chartered bus for Gibsonville where they toured Minneola Plant and later had lunch in Burlington. Then they went on to Haw River where they visited Tabardrey and Granite Plants. They are left to right, Messrs. Nichols, Wright, Campbell, Heddell, Lakamp, Mathiews, Bush, Whitney, McConnell, Hunnewell, Ewing, Falk, Weaver, Melvin, Sampson, Tansill, Holt, Brantley, Withrow, Heiss (host to the group at Revolution), Flemming, Steinmetz, Parr, McCartney, Travis, Brayer and Simpson in doorway.

QUALITY TELLS—Here Mr. Heiss conducts one of the groups through Revolution Flannel Plant. They are Messrs. Steinmetz, feeling cloth; McCartney, Parr, Flemming, Nichols, Heddell and Sampson.

Cone Official To Address Group

Harold W. Smith, secretary and comptroller of Cone Mills Corporation, will speak at the meeting of Southern Textile Associates on June 12 at Myrtle Beach, S. C. His topic will be "Mr. Production Man, You too Play on the Tax and Financial Team." The association is made up of operating officials of mills.

Fat Stock Show Next Wednesday

Cone Mills employees who are part-time farmers will be interested in the Piedmont Fat Stock Show and Sale on Wednesday, June 9, at the Guilford County Agricultural Center on the Burlington Road.

Visitors (and everyone is welcome) will not only have the opportunity to buy choice beef at the auction following the judging, but will be eligible to win family-size packages of beef. About 100 pounds of meat will be given away and tickets may be obtained free at the show. The sale and awarding of beef prizes will start at 7 p.m.

Both cattle and hogs will be entered by 4-H Club and FFA members from five counties and winners will receive cash awards.

The annual event is sponsored by the Greensboro Chamber of Commerce and Belk's Department Store of Greensboro.

Fashion Exhibitors To Hear Mr. Heiss

Marion W. Heiss, vice president of Cone Mills Corporation, will deliver one of two principal addresses at the Carolina-Virginia Fashion Exhibitors annual banquet Sunday night, June 6 at the Hotel Charlotte.

JOINS CONE MILLS—Marvin A. Law has joined the managerial staff of Cone Mills Corporation's synthetics division. Mr. Law, who holds a B.S. degree in textiles from N. C. State College, Raleigh, has been with Burlington Mills in a similar capacity for the past 11 years. Prior to that he was with the Kendall Company. Mr. Law, who with his wife and son, Marvin, Jr., live at Sedgefield, is a native of Mecklenburg County.

Cone Post 386 Takes Part In Service

Cone Post 386, American Legion, observed Memorial Day, Sunday, May 30 by attending the worship service of the Rankin Baptist Church. The pastor, Rev. Hoyle T. Allred, brought an inspiring message on Freedom and Responsibility. The Civitan Boy's furnished music for the service.

At 4:30 p.m. a Memorial Service was held at the Veteran's Plot in Forest Lawn Cemetery. Cone Post Firing Squad, commanded by Richard Wheeler fired the memorial salute and Eddie Smith and Leonard Bell sounded taps.

Gift of Appreciation

Miss Flieda Johnson, retiring this year from the teaching profession, was presented a gift by the student body and faculty of Ceasar Cone School, where she has been teacher and principal for 41 years. On last Saturday, Miss Johnson was surprised upon have a 21-inch television set delivered at her home. This was the gift mentioned above. Accompanying the television set was a television table, given her by the Ceasar Cone Parent Teacher's Association.

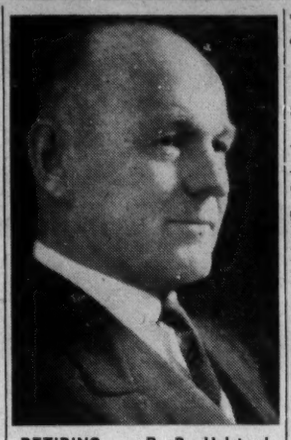
No Substitutes

During times of stress and strain it is probably more difficult to maintain the high standards of ethics and good relationship than during the periods when business conditions are good. On the other hand, to accomplish the best results it is even more important that cooperation and good will prevail.

Although one would judge from present reports that there are some improvements, the actual facts do not give much room for real optimism in the textile business today. We must, therefore, face realities and prepare ourselves to meet the highly competitive conditions so that our mills will fare as well as any in the nation.

This is certainly a time for cooperation, and failure on the part of an individual or a group to realize the difficulties for a mill to exist under prevailing conditions, and to act accordingly, is hurting the welfare of all concerned.

We cannot stress too strongly the continuing need for wholehearted working together in improving quality and in reducing costs. Although changes in conditions can be expected, and although we can continue to look forward to further technical advancement, the fundamental principles of good relationship and cooperation remain the same. Successful long-term operations are dependent upon the exercising and recognition of these principles. There are no substitutes.



RETIRING — P. B. Halstead, shown above, will retire from Cone Mills Inc., New York, on August 1, as noted in last week's Textorian. He has been head of the Statistical Department for the past three years.

E. Coffin.

A soft answer turneth away wrath, but grievous words stir up anger.—(Proverbs 15, 1.)

With so much of hate and unhappiness in the world today, and so much of grief in any man's life, the kind deed, the encouraging word that any one of us can give to another these days is so little but so presious. They cost us nothing.—but of what great value!

The best way to show that a stick is crooked is not to argue about it, or spend your time denouncing it, but to lay a straight stick alongside of it.—Dwight L. Moody.

QUALITY IN FINISHING COUNTS—Here is a group of Cone representatives in Granite Plant at Haw River. They are shown with Bob King who conducted them through the plant and Coy Parrish, cutting machine operator. They are Messrs. Wright, McConnell, Heddell, Duffy, Falk and Ewing.

Employees' Children Honored At Haw River

At graduation exercises at Haw River High School, three students were recognized for their outstanding ability.

Pigeon Race Results

Sam Baxter's "Twinkle Toes" took the 450 mile race May 30th from Montgomery, Ala., to wind up the Piedmont Racing Pigeon Club's Old Bird Schedule. He was clocked at 759.56 yards per minute to win the trophy donated by The Home Specialty Co.

A total of 39 entries were made from seven lofts with only five finishers. The others were: Charles Wells' "Over Night," Wade Walls' "Daily Double," "Flying Twin" and J. H. McDaniel's "Over Fly."

The club will resume races in the fall with the young bird schedule.

Co-Workers Honor Barbara Wyrick

Miss Barbara Jeanette Wyrick, bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ruffin Wyrick, was entertained at a shower of kitchen gifts by members of the Cone Mills Laboratory staff Thursday, May 27. The party was at the home of Mrs. W. T. Anthony, 4005 Peterson Street.

Miss Wyrick will be married on Saturday, June 5 to Forrest Cranford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cranford, at Carraway Memorial Methodist Church.

The group played crazy bridge and bridge bingo. The honoree received a corsage of carnations.

Present were Mesdames John W. Medearis and daughter, Jean; Murray Stilwell, Jack Elkins, Fred Hedrick, Eugene Haney, Stanley Mulder; Misses Martha McKenzie and Barbara Wyrick.

Vacation Bible School June 16

Vacation Bible School will begin Monday morning, June 7 at Eller Memorial Baptist Church and continue through Wednesday, June 16. On the beginning day a Street Parade will be held. School will start at 9:00 o'clock and be dismissed at 11:30.

Rev. John T. Edwards, pastor will serve as principal. Also serving will be Miss Celia Jones, superintendent of the nursery department; Mrs. Wade Wylie, beginner's department; Mrs. C. V. Webster, primary department and Mrs. Raymond Collins, head of the intermediate department.

Refreshments will be served daily.

Cone Post Planning Annual Lawn Festival

Cone Post 386, American Legion, held its regular meeting last Thursday night with Commander Billy Parsons presiding.

The following men were named as members of the Project Committee: Joe Odell, E. H. Bateman, Vernie Cockman, Alton Wyrick, and Norman Pinkelton.

Cone Post is looking into the possibilities of having a parade on July 3 beginning at the White Oak Drug Store on Fairview Street to Fourth Street in Proximity, then on to Vine Street, Revolution up 12th Street, White Oak and end in the grove at White Oak Plant. If this plan is adopted, civic clubs in Cone Mills communities will be invited to sponsor a float in the parade and all children will be asked to ride their bicycle in the parade.

After the parade a Lawn Festival will be held in the grove.

Granite Employee Honored At Party

Miss Louise Gillespie, Billing Department, Granite Plant, was honored with a linen shower on Tuesday evening, May 25 at the home of Mrs. Ernest Byrd. Misses Marie Blalock and Betty Lou Byrd and Mrs. Bobby Garner were co-hostesses. Miss Gillespie is to be married on June 19 at the Haw River Christian Church.

The Byrd Home was decorated with roses and carnations. Miss Gillespie was presented with a carnation corsage.

Industrial Golf To Be Prominent National Golf Day

NEW YORK — This year industrial golf leagues are expected to play an increasingly important part in National Golf Day, which last year saw more than 100,000 compete against the United States Open champion.

In view of the expected heightened interest, LIFE Magazine and the P.G.A., co-sponsors of the third annual event, have announced that industrial leagues will be able to participate any day of the week preceding Saturday, June 5, when Ben Hogan will shoot his scratch round at Baltusrol in Springfield, N. J. Golfers, in fact, may attempt as many National Golf Day rounds as they wish, providing they pay one dollar for each effort. All money goes to the U.S.O. and National Golf Fund.

While many industrial leagues have their own system of handicapping, one of the methods suggested, if you do not have any, is the Callaway. Here is how it works:

CLASS A

Score	Deduct
Par or less	Scratch
One over par to 75	½ Worst hole
76 to 80	Worst hole
81 to 85	Worst hole plus ½ next worse hole
86 to 90	Two worst holes
91 to 95	Two worst holes plus ½ next worse hole
96 to 100	Three worst holes

CLASS B

101 to 105	Three worst holes plus ½ next worse hole
106 to 110	Four worst holes
111 to 115	Four worst holes plus ½ next worse hole
116 to 120	Five worst holes
121 to 125	Five worst holes plus ½ next worse hole

CLASS C

126 to 130 Six worst holes—LIMIT

Note: Worst hole equals highest hole score. Half strokes count as whole strokes.

In other words, you just shoot your round and you are eligible for some of the memorable awards—an "I Beat Ben Hogan" medal if your score betters that which the Open champion shoots from scratch at Baltusrol; a special certificate if you tie Ben; and a certificate if you even compete, as a memento of the great occasion!

Entry fee is one dollar, with all the money going to the U.S.O. and the National Golf Fund.

The office of government is not to confer happiness, but to give men opportunity to work out happiness for themselves—William Ellery Channing.
